Street Jesus News:

Welcome to the August edition of our e-news. We hope you are all enjoying the summer months despite the rather wet weather of late. Street Jesus team were out in force for the Wickham market summer market. We were in a very buoyant frame of mind, excited to be out sharing the good news of Jesus Christ. There was lots of fun and laughter with one man asking if we had been drinking which reminded us of the scriptures in Acts 2 on the very first Pentecost when the Holy spirit fell on those present so powerfully that some felt they might be drunk. We had lots of good conversations in a very general way but not so faith focused as on our previous outreach at Ipswich music day. We went through 'Jesus at the door' with three Christians who were interested in what it was all about. Four other people engaged with the pictures who listened intently and thanked us for explaining it. The tricky area is when using the rucksacks to explain human sin. Usually when we ask which ruck sack people would like to carry they obviously choose the light one with the sponges in which represent the fruit of the spirit rather than the heavy one carrying the stones of sin. But one young man said he preferred to carry the heavy one as it would keep him fit. Taken by surprise at first as this had not happened before we were able to go on and speak about the effects of sin such as anxiety depression, anger guilt, jealousy, bitterness and asked again if he would like to carry those burdens within himself. Understandably he was not so keen. When we speak of personal hurts there is often an emotional response.

We had one very significant contact with a lady with whom we had built up a humorous relationship throughout the day beginning with our routine sharing of chocolates. We always feel privileged when people feel they can trust us with something so personal.

We invite all those who show a genuine interest in learning more about Jesus to our Wednesday evening seekers group. If you to know of anyone who are curious about the Christian faith and want to know more please give them our contact details.

We were able to pray for two people, one with a damaged ankle, the other who was in extreme pain and awaiting a hip replacement operation which had been cancelled twice. We also received encouragement from someone who worked for a large uk wide evangelical outreach organisation. Its always nice to be affirmed in the work we do but we realise this is not essential, we work not to receive Mutleys medal but rather to be obedient to the God who loves us beyond our human understanding. Christian literature was taken, £52 was raised for the Beehive children's foundation and £7 for Street Jesus. Our next outreach is at Trinity park car boot sale in Ipswich on Sunday September 17th. Our grateful thanks to all the organisers of the summer market who did such a great job.

We are having some great conversations at our Wednesday evening Seekers group meetings.

One of our conversations centred around Gods grace with forgiveness being part of that. The question of the convicted child killer Lucy Letby came up and there is clearly a challenge in the idea that she could be forgiven by God, despite what she has done. Its natural to believe that the punishment should fit the crime, that those who commit the most evil crimes are beyond redemption and forgiveness particularly where there seems to be no contrition. There is Gods judgement of course which we will all have to face because love cannot be served without justice. It is often said, when people come to Christ whilst in prison that it is not genuine, merely a ploy to convince the authorities that they are a changed person. But God knows every heart and knows if we are pretending. Jesus challenges us about our personal sin and although we may not actually murder somebody our thought life when provoked may contain murderous thoughts. Certainly we all experience anger and anger can be the seed of murder. We grade sins according to severity. Jesus points out the seed of our sin. Gods grace seems scandalous in this sense but it is available for us all and there is no person who cannot be redeemed and transformed by him. .

Another discussion was dedicated to illness and by implication healing. We looked at the various factors that cause illness and it was quite a long list. We concluded that many were a result of lifestyle and powerful commercial forces. We made the link between mind and body and how certain mindsets will impact on our physical health and that physical disease can effect our mental and emotional health. The attitudes we express can influence recovery. We can add spiritual into that mix. From a Christian perspective illness is a result of the fall because God created humans to commune with him in his spirit, for his pleasure and ours but we were persuaded to worship ourselves instead, the effects of which have tumbled down the generations and manifest itself often in ill health. We know that Jesus has immense healing power and as believers he has given us the authority to do the same. Its true that not all people are healed physically whom we minister to, or pray for but the very act of faith has healing and spiritual power and allows us to grow closer to God.

With Pride week just passed and the Church of England allowing same sex blessings the subject of human sexuality has gained prominence in the media and church settings in recent times. LGBT pressure groups have gained traction in the commercial world, in public service organisations and in government circles in order to further their equalities agenda and drive toward further acceptance. Despite the fact that homophobia still exists our culture is much more excepting of LGBT people. The biblical text clearly states that homosexuality is a sin and some Christians argue that these texts were indicative of the culture at that time but do not relate to faithful same sex relationships today. Biblical literalists argue against Biblical cherry pickers and the Church of England has embarked on the process of living in love and faith to help resolve the issue.. Whatever our viewpoint we remember that our central identity is In Christ rather than our sexuality, whatever it may be and that we are all called to humility rather than pride. Blessings to you all Graham

BOOST

BOOST Primary School Chaplaincy

We would ask for your prayers as the BOOST Trustees explore the possibility of appointing a voluntary part time chaplain to work in a local primary school. The role would be 2-3 hours per week based over a lunchtime through term time.

This venture will build on the excellent work of chaplaincy already at Felixstowe School. The volunteer chaplain would be accountable to, and receive support and training from, the BOOST Trustees, the BOOST Chaplain and the school involved.

We are excited about this possible new venture and ask that you continue with us in prayer so that we may be attentive to God's prompting and direction. If you would like to know more about the role please do get in touch via boostfelixstowechaplaincy@gmail.com

BOOK OF THE MONTH

we look for this one to be packed full of goodness and satisfaction. As a release and relief to the rigours and horrors of the here and now, a present day heaven would be a first choice if it weren't so unimaginable. This longed for, already tasted, sometimes-held-sometimes-lost rightness of life is the Kingdom of Heaven. When the Kingdom is experienced, we usually know it and appreciate it, even though we can't always define it or recognise its source. We know the feel of its breeze on our skin, naked and not ashamed. The Kingdom of God is it. It's what we are all longing for, deep down: every human being on the planet. It is the way that we were always meant to live, our default culture. This Kingdom of Heaven has always been the number one plan for the earth and its I

Bible reading

I have seen another evil under the sun, and it weighs heavily on mankind: God gives some people wealth, possessions and honour, so that they lack nothing their hearts desire, but God does not grant them the ability to enjoy them, and strangers enjoy them instead. This is meaningless, a grievous evil. A man may have a hundred children and live many years; yet no matter how long he lives, if he cannot enjoy his prosperity and does not receive proper burial, I say that a stillborn child is better off than he. It comes without meaning, it departs in darkness, and in darkness its name is shrouded. Though it never saw the sun or knew anything, it has more rest than does that man even if he lives a thousand years twice over but fails to enjoy his prosperity. Do not all go to the same place? All people live their lives scratching for food but they never seem to have enough. So are wise people really better off than fools. Do poor people gain anything from being wise. And knowing how to act in front of others. Enjoy what you have rather than desiring what you don't have. Just dreaming about nice things is meaningless like chasing the wind. Everything has already been decided. It was long ago what each person would be so there is no good arguing with God about your destiny. The more words you speak the less they mean. So what good are they. In the few days of our meaningless lives who knows how our days can be spent. Our lives are like a shadow. What will happen on the earth after we have gone.

Ecclesiastes 6:1-12
